

DISCLAIM:

We at Durga Prasad & Co have tried to aware you about the law with respect to your use of our web site and have herein below provided you with the rights, Limitations and obligations for its use.

The present web site (www.dpsec.com) contains features of services that we offer / propose to offer in due course. We intend to launch certain services conforming to the given features in toot. However, due to business needs and regulatory requirements, the final launch may contain variations. www.dpsec.com reserves the right to decide on the criteria based on which customers would be chosen to participate in various services offered by it and have an exclusive discretion to decide the customers who would be entitled to its avail its services.

Our web site shall provide you with a wide variety of online information and services with respect to stocks, investments including contents and applications which could either be general and or personalized in nature. In order to keep our standards we maintain, manage and operate our web site along with a team of dedicated and specialized institutions and corporations who are associated with us either as affiliates, agents, associates and or subsidiaries.